Dear Parent/Carer

Strike Action by the NEU

As you will no doubt be aware, the NEU Teaching Union plans to take industrial action on the following dates:

1 February, 1 March, 15 March, 16 March 2023

Current information regarding the proportion of teaching staff at St George's Academy in this particular union leads us to believe that we will be able to remain open to all students. There may be some doubling up of classes taught by members of the senior leadership team, but we have contingency plans in place to cover that. We will write to you again if we receive information that leads us to review those plans.

In the event of staff absence that reaches unprecedented and unanticipated levels, where we are not able to keep all students in school, communication will be sent to parents in specific year groups for those parents who are able to collect their child to do so. We will undertake to supervise all students who are not able to be collected. Please note that this eventuality is considered unlikely. If this is the case on 1 February, we will write to you again to amend plans for the remaining dates.

As such, all students should attend school as normal. School transport and all other logistical arrangements will remain as normal. Students should come equipped and prepared to engage in their usual school day, and any adjustments that need to be made will take this into account.

Please also note that the Year 8 Parents' Evening calendared for Wednesday 1 March will be moved to Tuesday 28 February. This is an in-person event held at both campuses. Some staff who do not work on Tuesdays will run their event online via School Cloud on either Monday 27 February or Thursday 2 March – further detail in this regard will follow in due course.

Yours sincerely

Mrs L Caslin
